PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Nominations have been made and acceptances have been received from those nominated for the various offices. When you receive your official ballot, please mark it AND mail it.

There will be a TNA NEWS in Miniature again this year. If you want to have a part in this, send your contribution ($2.50) to the TNA NEWS Editor, Box 74, Weslaco, Tex. and you will be listed as a donor. DEADLINE IS MARCH 15 !! The Mini News does not draw funds from the TNA general fund, it is dependent solely on contributions.

An invitation is extended to any club interested in hosting the 1978 TNA convention. Please submit your invitation along with a resume of the facilities available.

To those wishing to publish the TNA NEWS for the next convention year, we ask you to submit your bids.

The TNA speaker for the educational forum will be Chet Krause of Numismatic News. Chet has been most generous in providing copies of his various publications for both regional and local shows and conventions. Last year, 12 "Numismatic Ambassador" awards were given to 13 individuals in different areas of the United States for meritorius contributions to numismatics. Welcome, Chet, to Texas and the TNA convention.

There have been numerous burglaries in Texas the past few months. Unfortunately few of these are noted by the news media thereby hindering the possible recovery of some of the coins. The vast majority of dealers and collectors are honest, honorable persons and will not deal in stolen coins. If you are unfortunate enough to be burglarized, please contact your police department and then the news media.

Two additional contributions to the display case fund were received this month — from the LTV Coin Club of Grand Prairie and Ken Bucker. Thanks to all.

Have you paid your TNA dues for 1975? Have you made your hotel reservations for the convention? Better do it!

REPUBLICAN ISSUES OF GUATEMALA

Brent Brown

A variety of values and monetary systems have been used in the Republic of Guatemala. Since the conquest of the of the area, a strong tendency toward the Spanish monetary tradition has prevailed. A colonial mint was opened at Cuidad Guatemala (now Antigua Guatemala) in 1733, but was later moved to the present-day Guatemala City. These two mints have issued coins of six monetary systems for Guatemala. During the colonial era, Spanish coins from the other Latin American mints circulated adding more variety to the monetary system.

The first coinage of the Republic was of the real system. One-quarter, one-half, one, and eight reales were struck. The obverse of these coins has a design showing the sun rising over five peaks and the reverse design has a large tree and the value.

One-quarter reales were struck from 1859 to 1991. Six major types are known, some of which were struck at the Birmingham, England, mint. Common designs include a rampant lion and three mountains with a sun rising over them. One-quarter reales were struck in various silver contents and the 1901 issue was struck in copper-nickel in 1900-1901. The obverse of these coins features a seated liberty: the reverse, a design with the quetzal bird, a scroll, crossed rifles and laurel leaves. One reales were struck from 1854-1912 with the same design. Thus real coins were struck in independent Guatemala from 1822 to 1912, 90 years after the ousting of the Spanish.

President Carrera began striking two reales pieces with his portrait in 1860. Design changes on the coin occured in 1872, 1879, and 1881. Four reales coins, all of which carry Carrera's portrait, were issued from 1860 to 1894.

At the same time that reales of several values were circulating, a decimal system of coinage was being introduced in the nation. A twenty-five centimos coin was struck in 1864-1870 with the portrait of Carrera. The following year a one centavo coin was introduced. The obverse of the one centavo has the value "UN CENTAVO," the reverse has a design with the sun rising over three mountains, the date, and the legend "REP. DE. GUATEMALA."

In 1881 silver 5, 10 and 25 centavos coins were introduced. The silver five and ten centavos feature their value enclosed in a wreath on the obverse. The reverse design includes the legend "REPUBLICA DE GUATEMALA" and a design with the quetzal bird perching on a scroll with crossed rifles. The design is encircled by a wreath. Twenty-five centavos coins have the same reverse design as the five and ten but have the seated liberty on the obverse.

President Rafeal Carrera was responsible for issuing the first decimal coins in Guatemala. His first issue was a one peso bearing a large portrait of the president struck in 1859, five years before Maximilian had the first decimal coins struck in Mexico. The last part of his presidency saw the introduction of a 50 centavos coin.

During the presidency of Carrera, coins of two different monetary systems were being minted and circulated in Guatemala. In 1870, ¼, ½, one, two, and four reales; 25 centimos; 50 centavos; and one peso coins were circulating. All of these coins except the ¼ real have the bust of Carrera on the obverse. Gold four reales and one, two, four, five, eight, ten and 16 pesos coins were also circulating at this time. These two monetary systems were related: eight reales equalled one peso. A two reales coin and a 25 centismos coin were therefore of equal value.

Some copper necessity coins were introduced in 1915. Twelve and one half and 25 centavos coins were struck with the word "PROVISIONAL," the date, and the legend "REPUBLICA DE GUATEMALA." The value and the word "cobre" (copper) appear on the reverse. In 1922 a provisional 50 centavos was struck which includes the words "BRONCE-AL" (bronze-aluminum) on the reverse as an indicator of its composition. The following year one and five peso provisional coins were also released.

A new series of fractional coins with new designs were released beginning in 1925. These include one, five, and ten centavos coins. The one centavo obverse now has the value "UN CENTAVO DE QUETZAL," the first time the monetary value quetzal is used. A silver ¼ quetzal (25 centavos), ½ quetzal, and one quetzal coin were also released that year. The following year gold five, ten, and 20 quetzales coins were issued.

The one centavo coin of Guatemala carried the designation "UN CENTAVO DE QUETZAL" until 1949. In 1923 ½ and 2 centavo coins were issued with their values listed in fractions of a quetzal. We thus have coins with their values listed in quetzales issued in the following years:

medio centavo de quetzal	1932, 1946
un centavo de quetzal	1925, 1929, 1932-34, 1936, 1938-39 1943-44, 1946-49
dos centavos de quetzal	1932, 1943-44
¼ quetzal	1925-26, 1928-29, 1943, 1946-49
½ and 1 quetzal	1925

During the above listed years coins of five and ten centavos were also struck.

The current coinage of Guatemala features centavos as the fractional unit. Values now struck are 1, 5, 10, 25, and 50 centavos. Until 1965 these fractional coins, except the one centavo, were issued in silver.

FIESTA TIME IN SAN ANTONIO

A very interesting series of Texas medals is the Fiesta or Texas Cavalier medals issued each year in conjunction with the annual Fiesta in San Antonio.

The Fiesta celebration in the Alamo city started in 1891 to celebrate Texas Independence and the battle of San Jacinto. Originally the Fiesta was called "Fiesta of San Jacinto." The first festival was attended by President Harrison, and the battle of the flowers was the main event of the day.

Originaly the festival king's title was King Elamat. (This is "Tamale"

FIESTA MEDALS — Fig. 1 is the Type 1 Cavalier medal. This design was used from 1917 until 1953. The Fig. 2 design was used from 1953 until 1965. The major change on Type 2 is the date being moved to the reverse side. Beginning with the 1965 Cavalier medal the reverse was completely changed with the obverse remaining the same as the Type 2 medal. This new reverse is shown on Fig. 3 and referred to as Type 3. The Type 3 medal was used from 1955 until 1970. Fig. 4 shows the most recent design change. This time only the obverse was changed with the crest replacing the Cavalier on horseback. Fig. 5 is the earliest Cavalier medal known to me, issued only in 1946.

spelled backwards.) In 1927 the Texas Cavaliers were organized and started selecting the kings from their ranks. Since 1927, the kings have been known as "King Antonio."

Numismatically the Texas Cavaliers started to issue an annual medal to honor King Antonio in 1947. The medals from 1947 until 1953 have a cavalier on horseback on the obverse with Texas Cavaliers around the upper edge and the year below the horse. The reverse has King Antonio and the king's name around a horseshoe. This medal will be referred to as the Type I Cavalier medal.

Beginning in 1953, the design was changed slightly with the date being moved to the reverse and placed within the horse shoe. This will be referred to as the Type 2 medal. This design continued until 1965 when the reverse was changed. A picture of the Alamo replaced the horseshoe with the date being placed below the Alamo. We will call this Type 3 medal.

The obverse of the 1970 medal was changed completely with the mounted cavalier being replaced by the crest and shield of the Texas Cavaliers. This year the size was also increased from the previous 32mm to 35mm. This is the Type 4 medal and is the design currently being used

There is one other medal from the Fiesta known to me and that is the 1946 "good luck" medal. This year they didn't put the king's name on the medal, but used the words "Good Luck" instead.

Each year the medals were probably made in at least two different metals (i. e. brass, silver or alum.) I have collected one piece from each year without trying to obtain varieties or different metal content. By doing this, I have been able to assemble a complete date set from 1946 up to date at very little expense. The Cavalier medals are becoming increasingly hard to acquire and more expensive. Anyone wishing to assemble a set had better get a quick start before the earlier years become impossible to find. These medals can still be found in coin dealers "junk boxes" for less than a dollar if you are lucky.

DEAR MOM - By Richard E. Bonilla Houston, Texas

Dear Mom,

R. E. BONILLA

I keep finding things about this collecting hobby that I never knew before. For instance, I just found out that to be a real collector you have to read a national numismatic publication. I mean, people sit up and take notice when you say, authoritatively, "that is what COIN WORLD trends show," "I saw it in NUMISMATIC NEWS WEEKLY Tele-Quotes" or in TODAY'S COINS or other publications. As long as you don't give the date of the paper, you are safe.

But I did not know anything about all this until I started hanging around the local coin shop. I'll tell you about this coin shop another time; it is a nice, air conditioned place and the owner is very patient and the cops don't hassle you like they do at the drive-in. Anyway, I started reading those papers and every issue is like Christmas all over again. You call your Saks Fifth Avenue catalog your dream book; mom, you don't know what a dream book is until you open one of those papers. And some of them come out every week. They have all kinds of features and very good editorial pages, complete with sections for letters to the Editor which makes it easy for you to get a feel for what the other collectors think that you should be excited about.

The editors are very serious people, but they have a sense of humor. Where else would you read about a California woman who tried to pay off her ex-husband with a $2500 check written on a pair of unmentionables? But they do a good job, anyway, keeping the readers informed on the flip flops of gold, and silver, and copper, and rare coins. They tell you where the action is and what's happening, and to whom.

And another thing, they sure have a bunch of real cool columnists. There is this kid, Roni Grad, who has to be the expert's expert when it comes to Jewish histiry; and there is another chap, David L. Ganz, who must have been born with a magnifying glass in his hand. There is also this numismatic giant, A. Kosoff, who has to be read if you ever want to amount to anything in the hobby, and also Mr. Commonwealth of Coins who also answers to the name of Jerry Remick. But the thing that really blows my mind is the classified sections. They have columns and columns offering everything from pennies to gold coins, from books to show cases, they even have special trades. Mom, if you have the right coins you can trade them for a lot in Florida. And I don't mean in a cemetery.

Love,

Your son, The Collector.

The 1857 coinage law made provisions to abandon the large U.S. cent bringing in the popular, convenient small cent of 1856.

TRIAL PIECES TOO EXPENSIVE

By BRAD MILLS,
Dallas Morning News

Brad Mills

Pattern or sample coins authorized ahead of the various U.S. issues have been struck in limited quantities prior to changes in design, metal or denomination. These preliminary or exploratory copies are commonly referred to as experimental or trial pieces, struck for the benefit of mint officials and technicians who act as an examining committee. High Treasury officials also have been prominent in final decision making.

Beginning in the mid-1830's, patterns were extensively designed and studied, but abuses of the practice are suspected in some instances. These special coins were not ordinarily struck for presentation pieces to important people, although a few, now and then turned up in the portfolios of wealthy collectors who managed to obtain them in some manner. A bit of "playing around" with proof half cents from 1840 until 1849 smacked of favoritism, although these coins have been recognized as a regular issue, not patterns.

Prior to 1960, these special pattern pieces were in weak demand, yet as few as five were minted of each of several types. Patterns now occasionally come on the market, but have become rarities in their own right. They are very expensive in any metal.

Many of these pattern or trial coins were struck in "off" metals. It was not unusual to strike a few patterns of gold pieces in copper, probably to save the scarcer metal. Silver, nickel and aluminum have been used in trial pieces after 1830.

Most notable examples of pattern coins are the famous $4 gold pieces of 1879 and 1880. They were truly experimental coins and perhaps the only ones ever struck to impress Congress. Each member was reportedly given one of these beautiful pieces with the hope of a few proponents that a $4 gold coin would be added to our regular issues.

This odd denomination never was approved but a large number of 1879 trial pieces now are held in U.S. collections. Known as the "Stella," the $4 gold pattern is the aristocrat of our yellow coinage, although it never was a regular issue. The 1880 "Stella" probably would sell for $50,000 if placed on the market. Only 25 were coined as patterns. Strangely enough, the $4 trial pieces were struck in copper, aluminum and a white composition metal, but those in gold are the most desirable.

MARGINAL PEDIGREES

Marginal numismatic items have attracted the attention of many collectors who were constantly looking for new fields to conquer. These include medals, silver bars of all sizes from an ounce to a thousand ounces, mounted coins in ornamental settings from the unusual to mere trinkets, and tokens in a wide range from the authentic to the new.

The puritanical collector sticks with his coins, while the newer accumulators are not a bit particular about their portfolios. A gold nugget of questionable weight and fineness, a quickly struck medal commemorating some great occasion, or coin jewelry of unusual designs are obtained in an effort to cover a diversified field.

Medals with a gild pedigree have long been considered numismatic material. Those struck principally for commercial reasons may gain acceptance to a point because of their sheer beauty and craftsmanship, though lacking in weighty sponsorship. Many others have been hastily struck to follow the most recent historical achievements, literally rushed out on the collector market to join in the national celebration. Space accomplishments and various technological advancements have been among the favorite subjects for commemoration with medals and silver bars, toward achieving a form of patriotic ecomium.

The U.S. mint now has for sale an imposing list of medals. They range from the full presidential series in bronze to medals honoring patriots and achievements. The full list may be obtained by writing the U.S. mint at Philadelphia.

The most desirable of the commercially struck medals come in silver, although those in bronze have proved popular with beginners with low budgets. Frequently a medal series will be limited in mintage to perhaps 10,000 copies in an effort to give them a degree of scarcity. In some past instances this merchandising effort has proved successful.

Offering of medals in a continuing series has been in vogue for several years. These items usually follow topical, historical or geographical subjects, and the complete set may run to 50 medals. Signing in advance for such sets is the usual requirement, with the medals to be shipped as stipulated in the agreement.

The dictionary defines numismatics as the science of coins and medals. The hobby may have been expanded some with fringe items, but coins and medals still are the most accepted pieces in any collection. And gold and silver bars have long been a part of coin collecting, a fact that has opened the gate to the newer silver bars.

The program will be held on Saturday, April 12, in the French Room, Fairmont Hotel, Dallas, during the 17th convention of the Texas Numismatic Association.

Munoz, internationally known numismatist, will speak on the life of Juan Manuel Hidalgo, an important key man in a Maximilian Empire. Society members will also display numismatic items of the Maximilian period.

The special program is set for 5 p.m. and all are invited to attend.

JUNIOR READIN' ROUNDUP

BY: DAVE CERVIN,
Amarillo, Texas

TNA Youth Chairman
ANA Texas Youth Representative

BOBBY JOE HAYES, a TNA junior from Carrollton, Tex. -- this is a name to be reckoned with. Don't forget him. What has Bobby Joe done to merit this accolade? Well, Bobby Joe is the grand prize winner in the Maximilian—TNA co-sponsored contest to write an essay on THE ORIGIN OF THE SPANISH AND THE AUSTRIAN BRANCHES OF THE HABSBURG FAMILY Note that he is the grand prize winner, not just the first prize winner. The judges were so impressed with his entry that in addition to awarding him the announced first prize of $5.00 they increased the figure to $7.50. You see Bobby Joe, in addition to writing a short, neat paper on the Habsburgs, also prepared a commendable sketch of the 11th century castle that was the cradle of the Habsburg dynasty! Such an uncalled for addition to the program made a hit with the judges and they promptly changed first prize to grand prize and increased the original award by 50 per cent.

Juniors, there is a moral to this story. Go the extra mile, and it usually pays handsome dividends.

But even Bobby Joe's winning package, attractive though it was, did not meet the full specifications of the contest. A requirement was to discuss the origin of the Spanish branch of the Habsburg family and Bobby Joe overlooked this completely Further, a coin of Philip the Fair, who was the origin of the Spanish branch of the family, was to be awarded to the winner. As a result this part of the prize was withdrawn. However, Bobby Joe will still get a Roman coin for just entering

But don't fret. This coin will still be awarded to some deserving Maximilian or TNA junior. You see, the sponsors of this competition feel that there were just not enough entrants in a contest so loaded with possibilities. So at some early date there will be an announcement of the reactivation of this contest. There will be an increase in the cash prizes, possibly a new title, and the inclusion of the coin of Philip the Fair. So all of you juniors, watch for this announcement and be ready to get on the ball. You will have lots of fun, have a shot at cash prizes and a mediaeval coin, and build up your numismatic record for a YN Summer Seminar scholarship or for some other activity.

This is probably the last issue of the TNA NEWS that you will receive before the 17th convention of the Texas Numismatic Association, April 11, 12, and 13, in Dallas. And you have, as you read this, only a few more days to get in your nominations for Junior Numismatist of the Year This award goes to the best all-around junior numismatist no matter where he lives so long as he is a member of TNA

Just what are judges looking for when they select that "best numismatist?" They are looking for that steady club worker who is ready to tackle any job that will promote numismatics. High on their list is the junior who will man the information desk, hour after hour, at the club show Also high on their list is the junior who undertakes the chairmanship of some aspect of a coin show or the junior who volunteers to dis tribute show announcements at stores, shops and businesses. Very high are those who bring programs at club meetings. Possibly better than that is the junior who brings a program to his school class. Another way to make a hit with the judges is to study an aspect of numismatics adaquately to write an article about it and have it published. Winning awards at coin shows helps, but most of the preceding work items rate higher in the judges' eyes.

So get yourself nominated, or, nominate yourself. Yes, nominate yourself! There is nothing wrong with this. After all who knows better what you did numismatically last year than you.

Send nomination to me, Dave Cervin, 6201 Adirondack, Amarillo, Tex 79106. They must reach me by March 15, though I will add a couple of days for travel time. Oh, yes, don't forget to include the Roman coins you have earned, describing how you earned them. And should you have anything published include a copy of the publication.

As for Junior VIP, as you might suspect, this means Very Important Person. And the junior who wins this is truly a very important person as he or she is making a most valuable contribution towards the greater growth and life of TNA. You see, this award goes to that junior who signed up the most members to TNA during 1974. What a singular honor to receive this trophy!

If you attend the state convention, you may wish to accept the Maximilian Society's invitation to join their junior workshop. This will be both fun and educational. For a very modest fee you may elect to join their organization as a junior.

Once again get your nominations in immediately for Junior Numismatist of the Year.

This year's educational forum is certain to be one of the most interesting programs ever presented by TNA. Chester L. Krause, publisher of Numismatic News, Coins Magazine, Coin Prices, World Coin News and other hobby publications; and co-compiler of the Standard Catalog of World Coins, will be one of our featured speakers.

Chet, as he is better known to his many friends, is generally recognized as a top authority in the numismatic field. He has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico, as well as in many foreign countries, increasing and sharing with others, his great knowledge of numismatics. He has been especially active and successful in using his considerable influence and reputation in government circles to benefit our hobby.

At this time of writing, I do not know what subject he will choose to discuss, but you can be sure that it will be one that you will want to hear and will remember as a highlight of this convention.

Not to be overlooked in expressing our enthusiasm over publisher Krause's appearance, is the fact that the Organization of International Numismatists will also provide a speaker on our forum. With a membership that includes many outstanding numismatists, starting with President John J. Pittman, they'll also present a program equally exciting!

Exhibitors at our convention will be interested in knowing that F. A. "Tom" Jones of Dearborn, Mich., has agreed to be our head judge. Tom is a nationally known numismatist and is exceptionally well qualified as a judge of numismatic exhibits.

The eagle on the reverse of the Standing Liberty quarter has been referred to as a freak. It has the head of a hawk, the wings of an eagle and the body of a dove.

HAVING A SHOW?

Promote TNA by having a table ready for your TNA club representative at your coin show — order application blanks from the TNA secretary. If your club wishes to pass out copies of the TNA News, place an early order with the TNA News editor. These can be ordered at $8.50 per 100 postpaid. We are all interested in the growth of TNA — let others know about it too!

From the second vice president

Texas Numismatic Association

Fred Clark
2124 Lakeside Dr.
San Angelo, Texas 76901

It's convention time! Let's all get ready to attend one of the biggest yet. Plans have been made and the date, time and place are set. Hope to see you there.

Governors and club representatives, please don't forget the annual complimentary breakfast on Saturday morning, April 12. This is your time and place to get new ideas to carry back to your club and district. This is also designed to keep TNA and numismatics in general growing. TNA has grown the past year, but it needs more. With your continued help and work, TNA WILL grow. You may also have problems and I'm sure that they can be resolved here.

If you have not made reservations for a place to stay, the time is getting short and you should do so at once.

Governors — if you are leaving your office this year, please help find a replacement and one who will and can serve for the betterment of TNA. Ask one of your clubs to nominate him or her and send the name to the TNA secretary. It is too late for the candidate to be placed on the official printed ballot, but a write-in is permitted as long as the secretary has a written acceptance by March 10. Also, where possible, furnish the name of your clubs' representatives.

See you in Dallas at the Fairmont Hotel — April 11-13, 1975. We hope everyone will come and enjoy the fun.

Krause, recognized as one of the top authorities in the numismatic field, is a native of Wisconsin and was engaged in the carpenter-contractor business with his father until 1957. He pioneered the publication of Numismatic News, the coin collecting hobby's first monthly tabloid, in 1952 and became full time publisher upon retiring from the contracting business. TIGHTER SECURITY AT TNA SEMINAR AFTER N.Y. ROBBERY

Following the experience of having been robbed of nearly $40,000 of coins, mostly gold, during the OIN counterfeit detection seminar in New York City in December, security is going to be extremely tight during the TNA-OIN counterfeit detection seminar to be held during the TNA convention at the Fairmont Hotel, Dallas, April 11, 12, 13.

"Nobody, but nobody, is to be allowed into the seminar classroom unless there's a special badge on the lapel," warns Virgil Hancock, past president of the Organization of International Numismatists (OIN) and co-ordinator in setting up such seminars from coast to coast.

The class in Dallas is to be limited to only 20, and, based upon past seminars, this seminar is expected to be sold out and with a "waiting list" weeks before the Dallas convention opens.

Registration fee is $110, of which $55 must accompany your request for a spot in the seminar. Checks are to be made payable to OIN, and sent with your application to Virgil Hancock, Box 936, Bellaire, TX 77401 (Phone 713 - 667-8158).

The seminar will be held in the Florentine Room of the Fairmont Hotel, and the first class starts promptly at 9:00 AM, Friday, April 11.

Registrants will check in at the registration desk at 8:30 AM Friday.

Ferdinand Maximilian

Mexico is the only country in the northern hemisphere which can claim two emperors. One was native-born; the other of royal European blood.

Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian of Hapsburg was born on July 6, 1832 at Vienna. He was the second son of His Imperial Apostolic Majesty, Francis Charles, and the Archduchess Sophia.

As a youth he travelled widely. On one trip he met Princess Maria Carlotta Amalia of Belgium, and married her in 1857. His brother, Emperor Francis Joseph, did not agree with his liberal principles and ambitions.

England, Spain and France were owed a great deal of money by Mexico. Using this for an excuse, the French Emperor proposed to set Maximilian up as emperor of Mexico. England and Spain soon withdrew from the project. Maximilian demanded a plebiscite be held to demonstrate popular favor in the project. Although shouts of "fraud" were heard, Maximilian accepted the results of the plebiscite.

On April 10, 1864, he accepted the throne and on May 28, 1864, arrived at Vera Cruz on the ship Vera Cruz.

The second Emperor of Mexico was blonde, blue-eyed, well proportioned and dignified. He was widely read and spoke fluently in six languages. He ruled from April 10, 1864 to May 15, 1867. His first two years were influenced by Napoleon III of France, who had set him up there in the first place. When the affairs of Napoleon became entangled in international difficulties, Maximilian was left on his own. Those last few months of personal rule failed to reconcile the warring factions in Mexico and his conservatives fell to Juarez' republicans.

He initiated many good laws but few were carried out. Toward the last of his rule his influence did not extend much beyond the valley of Mexico. His emperorship was marked by grand balls and elegant court affairs.

In March 1867, he fled to Queretaro. After a 72-day siege, on May 15 he surrendered to Juarez' forces. Following a trial, which was a farce, he was executed on June 19.

The failure of Maximilian was greatly due to the lack of support by Napoleon III. His death was an answer of the Latin race of the New World to European attempts to regain power. Also, it was a warning from the United States to Europe to keep out of the affairs of the western hemisphere.

Some of the most beautiful coinage of the hemisphere occurred during Maximilian's reign. The peso and 50-centavo coins bore his portrait, as did the 20-peso gold coin. Minor coins of bronze bore his name but not his portrait. The coins of Maximilian were the first in Mexico to use the metric system.—COURTNEY COFFING, "KELLY'S COINS & CHATTER."
